THE WISHING GATE.

The twittering sparrow greets the morn,
 The robin softly calls his mate;
 A maiden, midst the ripening corn,
 Stands musing at the wishing gate.
 Ah, well a day!
 Fair maiden, may
 Kind fancies on thy wishes wait!

Wish not for riches—thy secure
 Blessings that lose too soon their zest;
 But wish thy heart may ever be true;
 At now it beats in thy young breast;
 Wish that thy love be blest with love,
 No turn of fortune may abate;
 No turn of fate may abate;
 Serene as none the skies above,
 Sane as thee at the wishing gate;
 Then well a day!
 Fair maiden, may
 Kind fancies on thy wishes wait!

Wish that the heart thou fain wouldst win,
 With thine to mate through weal or woe,
 Ne'er make thee deem perhaps 'twas vain,
 Thus to the wishing gate too steal.
 Wish those that to thy love are born
 May tread along a path as straight,
 And pied with flow'rs as that which morn
 Thou canst but to the wishing gate.

Then well a day!
 Fair maiden, may
 Kind fancies on thy wishes wait!

Wish that, though time thy charms may fade,
 Affection still shall deck thy life;
 And e'en above the blooming maid
 Shall be beloved the faithful wife.
 But what little form is that I see
 Spring to thy side with joy elate?
 What those looks, so proud and free,
 Bent on the one the wishing gate?

Ah, well a day!
 Methinks they say—
 Kind fancies on thy wishes wait!

The Ruse of Life.

Hall's Journal of Health thus seeks to induce the variety in life which rests and recreates soul and body:
 Get out of them if you wish to live long; if you wish to avoid the lunatic asylum; if you wish to escape suicide or a miser's death. Men and women must have recreation; must have amusement; must have diversion. It is wholesome for the mind to break away from its daily vocation or employment every night. The man who goes from his counting-house or his workshop at the close of the day, and does not leave it behind him, but sits at the family table in moodiness, brooding over past occurrences, weighing probabilities, casting conjectures, laying plans, and when the meal is over, sits thinking, thinking, by the hour, and goes to bed to toss and tumble, and worry, must give way; he will drop dead in the street, as many a business New Yorker has done within a few years past.

In the island of Cuba, the wagon roads lead over hills made of limestone; the wheels have run in the same track for generations, and have so worn into the solid stone that the hubs scrape the surface, and there is no getting out of rut until the bottom of the hill is reached. So, in the lives of many, the mind, under the influence of worldly care, gets to run in a particular track; in other cases, the occupations are such an insufferable sameness from one year's end to another that its workings become mechanical, and out of these lines they cannot work at all; hence the stupidity of such a large portion of the farming population of all countries; the peasants of England, Ireland, and France, and Germany, and Russia, as well.

More farmers' wives and daughters go crazy, out of one thousand, than of any other class, simply because of the one same routine of drudgery—of cooking, cleaning, from morning to night, from one year's end to another; even the Sabbath day making but little change, and that change only the result of the extra drudge of Saturday.

And our wives, in large towns and cities, sweep and dust and arrange, and wash and sew and provide, in one incessant round, summer and winter. No wonder they grow thin and careworn, and weak and nervous. Get out of the rut, all of you; pay a neighborly visit three nights in the week; or for two afternoons let there be a "let-up" in the way of a drive to the Central Park, a visit to the "village," an excursion on the river or in the cars, a picnic, a celebration, a horse-back ride of an hour or two, "there and back." What an appetite it gives! and the weariness—what a delicious sleep follows!

Get out of the rut, reader, two or three hours a week, and there will be no time lost by it in the long run.

French thieves seem possessed of a fertile invention. "The other day," says a French paper, "a lady went into a haberdashier's shop, Rue Richelieu, and bought a pearl gray silk dress. The shopman had noticed a tolerably well-dressed man standing at the door after the arrival of the lady, and seemed to watch all her movements. Stepping to the cashier's desk, the lady drew a bank note from her purse. At that moment the man outside rushed into the shop, gave the lady a box on the ear, and tore the note out of her hands. "Oh! had forbidden you to buy that dress," cried he, "but I watched you and you shall not have it." With these words he hastened away, the lady faint, and the persons employed in the shop, supposing the intruder to be an offended husband, made no remark and let him go. When the lady recovered, the proprietor of the establishment expressed his regret at this violent scene, and pitied her for being dependent on so brutal a husband. "My husband!" cried the lady, eagerly; "sir, that man is not my husband; I do not know him, and have never seen him." The pretended husband was a daring thief.

Better Imagined than Described.

The feelings of a near-sighted man, who finds that he has kissed his hand to the wrong lady.
 The finding your pocket-book gone just as you are about leaving a strange hotel, with no time to spare to reach the cars.
 The rapidity with which fancy stocks decline when you go in, and rise when you sell out.

The sensation from a lady's boot-heel (present style) when she steps on your foot accidentally.
 The prices charged at some of the hotels on "the European style."
 The skill with which the "gentlemanly" bar-keeper gives you short change.
 Getting on horseback for the first time in your life.

The amount of your gas and plumbing bills.
 Your mother-in-law's remarks if you do not go to the mountains or sea-shore during the season.
 The being asked by a person at an evening party, with whom you are acquainted, but whose name you cannot recollect, to introduce him to your friend, Miss Sunniguns, who is coming toward you.

THE MORAL USE OF A MORTGAGE.—Two negroes, bargaining for some land, the price of which was $900, said they had only half as much money. "Very well," said the land agent; "I'll take $450 down and a mortgage for the balance in one year." The negroes shook their heads and replied, "but, I say, boss, s'pose a fellow hain't got no mortgage?" The agent explained that he would take a mortgage on the land to secure the balance. "But, boss, I hain't got no mortgage!" The agent again explained, but the darkey couldn't see it, and disclaimed the ownership of a single "mortgitch." The other darkey here came to the rescue, and "benedicted the plot." Says he, "S'pose, don't you know what a mortgitch is? Den I'll tell yer. A mortgitch is jes' like dis yer: S'pose yer pays de boss yer $450 down; den yer gives yer word on de honor of a nigger dat yer'll pay him de odd $450 in a year. Den s'pose on de last day ob de year yer pays de boss $450, and den don't pay him de odd dollar, why den de mortgitch says de boss can jes' take all de money and de land, and you don't have nuffin—not a cent. Golly, boss, a mortgitch makes a nigger mitey honest!"

A most distressing accident befell a thirteen-year-old son of Mr. Will. Hudson, proprietor of a saloon on Central avenue, last Thursday. The boy was running along the street, when a ring upon the little finger of the right hand caught a projection from an iron fence, and the finger was torn from the socket at the base. The tendons were pulled out, and the surgeons were obliged to remove one side of the hand half way to the wrist.

Childhood is like the mirror, catching and reflecting images all around it. Remember that an impious or profane thought uttered by a parent's lip may operate upon a young heart, like a careless spray of water thrown upon a polished steel, staining it with rust, which no after scouring can efface.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
 For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and in all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative pill. The claims made for it are not exaggerated, and it is a most valuable and far more efficient remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and that it does so—without any of the usual evils of cathartics. It never fails through any fault or defect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of testimonials from all over the world, attesting its efficacy in every case. It is a most valuable and far more efficient remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and that it does so—without any of the usual evils of cathartics.

Hon. James B. Beck has returned to his home in Lexington from Alabama, where he went as a member of the Congressional Committee for the purpose of examining into alleged Ku-Klux disorders. He reports everything orderly and peaceable, notwithstanding the charges to the contrary, and brings the evidence of the U. S. officers stationed there to sustain him.

The Grand Duke Alexis, son of the Emperor of Russia, whose arrival in this country is looked for daily, is not, as has been stated in some quarters, the heir apparent of the Russian throne. He is the third son, and his eldest brother, who married the Princess Dagmar, of Denmark, has an heir, which makes his prospect of being Emperor of Russia very slim. Under a law of Russia, the heir apparent to the throne is forbidden to leave the empire.

Who will say hereafter that editors are not a practical set? It was Hon. Richard Smith, of the Cincinnati Gazette, who conceived the idea of a soup-house in Chicago, which makes six thousand people a day happy. To extol the genius which could originate such an idea would be superfluous. The establishment is superbly fitted up, considering the short space of time it has been in preparation. That eminent city councilman St. Keck, is superintendent, his experience as proprietor of a bone-boiling establishment at home having well fitted him for the post.

We had the pleasure of a visit from our friend Craddock, of the True Kentuckian, yesterday. It was Byron, who, apostrophizing the ocean, said:

"Time leaves no wrinkle on thy azure brow"—and in looking at the well-preserved and rejuvenated appearance of this veteran, the quotation came to our mind spontaneously. We have but one opinion on the subject, and that is, that some girl is fooling herself powerfully in letting such a clever bachelor stay single.

THE LISA WEBER TROUPE.—This very attractive troupe will appear at Major Hall tonight, for one night only. The performance will consist of the farce of the Dead Shot and the Burlesque Extravaganza, entitled Erani. The lovers of this style of drama will not fail to be on hand. For particulars see advertisement elsewhere.

COAL—PRICES ADVANCING.—The stock of coal in the Covington yards is running low, and prices of all qualities are steadily advancing. Monday Youghiogheny was selling at 28 cents a bushel, or $7 a load. There is no immediate prospect of a rise in the Ohio, and the probability is that prices will be further advanced. With cold weather advancing, a scarcity of coal is not a cheerful thing to contemplate.

See proclamations elsewhere of Gov. Leslie, offering a reward of five hundred dollars each for the apprehension of Charles Walters and Wm. Walters, charged with the murder of Willis Bunton in Pulaski county in November, 1869; also five hundred dollars for the apprehension of Jacob Spoonamore, indicted in the Washington circuit court for the murder of Thomas Coulter, in November, 1865; also two hundred dollars each for the apprehension and conviction of the persons connected with the shooting of Miss Sanders in Jessamine county, on the 30th ult.

Faxon, of the Paducah Kentuckian, says he would rather be a door-keeper for a side-show where there was an educated beggar, than to be a door-keeper for a side-show where there was an educated beggar.

If your plumbing needs repairing, go to Oscar Sealey, the only practical plumber in Frankfort, St. Clair street.

The Morganfield Advocate, which was started during the late State canvass as a campaign paper, has been revived as a permanent enterprise, and takes its place in the list of new journals. It is Democratic, of course, and presents, in matter as well as form, a very good appearance. We wish it every success.

We give elsewhere the full list of churches, hotels, banks, and other public buildings destroyed in Chicago, which affords a better idea of the sweeping destruction of the fire than anything we have seen.

The great railroad bridge between Newport and Cincinnati is rapidly approaching completion. The main or channel span will be completed by the 1st of November and it is believed that trains will be crossing by the 1st of January.

The broom-corn market in New York is agitated in consequence of heavy losses of stock in Chicago, and the reported short crop everywhere. Prices have advanced full fifty percent.

For cheap pumps and hydrants, go to Sealey's, St. Clair street.

The McCracken county fair, held at Paducah last week, was largely attended, and was a success.

NEWSPAPER SQUABBLE.—Tardew & Co., who lately started The South in New York—a very good paper by the by—have been assailed by E. E. Overall, who lately published a paper with the same name in Memphis. He claims exclusive right to the title, and says he must be reviving his paper in New York. He must be a lively genius, this man Overall. It hasn't been but a short time since he sent us an advertisement saying he wished to purchase a paper in the Blue-grass region of this State.

The Lexington Press says: "The new crop of small grain has come up well, and is looking very promising. The area sown in this and adjoining counties will be exceedingly small, on account of the continued failures in the crop here for several consecutive years. Barley and rye will be sown principally; wheat occurring only in crops of five to ten acres for home consumption."

COLMAN'S RURAL WORLD.—This reliable agricultural journal visits us weekly and richly merits its large and increasing patronage. Every farmer, fruit grower, and stock breeder in the West would be greatly benefited by reading it. It is published at $2 per annum. Address, Norman J. Colman, St. Louis Mo.

Old "Uncle" Jimmy Bryan, says the Paducah Kentuckian, now in his eightieth year, is attending the fair. He walked from home Wednesday, a distance of 32 miles, in preference to being bothered with a horse. He seems hale and hearty, and good for twenty years more of active life.

A CHALLENGE.—$100 to $500 dollars. Open to any person in Frankfort that can produce as skillful a specimen of plumbing (their own make) as done at Sealey's, St. Clair street.

President Grant was in Boston on Monday, and took part in the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner-stone of the new post-office. On Tuesday he went to Bangor, Maine.

Gen. Sherman, accompanied by his chief of staff, sails next week with Rear Admiral Alden, on the Wabash, for Europe, where he will spend some time looking into the military systems of the principal nations.

In view of the proposed resignation of Hon. R. H. Stanton, the Flemingsburg Democrat suggests the name of Judge W. F. Riots as a suitable candidate for circuit judge.

The Lexington Gazette says that a bold stream of water has been struck in the large cistern being dug by the city on Broadway, which is apparently ample to furnish the whole city with water.

Three negroes, charged with robbing the Nicholasville toll-gate and shooting Miss Sanders, on the night of the 30th of September, are undergoing their examination at Nicholasville.

FANCY BRAND—Flour manufactured at the Valley Mills in this city, when inspected at Louisville, was branded fancy. Specimens of flour from these mills have been sent to the Georgia State Fair.

There was a heavy snow-storm on Sunday at points in Wyoming Territory, along the Pacific Railroad, the snow reaching a depth of several feet, and delaying the trains.

This time it is a distributing office of the Freedman's Bureau, and his name is Gen. Ballock. The sum involved is a quarter of a million.

The fishing is good near at hand. Biss are caught daily on the banks of the river within the city limits, and at the mouth of Benson.

For all plumbing or gas fitting, call on Oscar Sealey, St. Clair street. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The Bowling Green Democrat favors the building of a railroad from St. Louis to Knoxville, taking Bowling Green in its route.

Admiral Porter expects a war with China, and wants the Asiatic squadron increased.

Nowadays, when a Western editor is burnt out and wants to purchase a new press and materials, he telegraphs to New York and has his eight-cylinder Hoe on its way to him next day. In the beginning of the century Frankfort was the printers' headquarters, and furnished the Franklin press (so named after our county doubtless) to all new and aspiring papers. The printing material—particularly paper from the mill at Great Crossings—was furnished by Georgetown.

These facts we gather from a Vincennes correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, who says:

THE FIRST NEWSPAPER

Ever published west of the Miami and north of the Ohio river, was the Western Sun, which began to "shine for all" at Vincennes, on the 4th of July, 1804, under the editorship and proprietorship of Elihu Stout, who removed from Kentucky to the Indiana Territory for the purpose of starting it. He purchased his press and type in Frankfort, Kentucky, early in that year, and shipped these, with a small supply of printing material, in a small boat, on the Kentucky river, for Vincennes. The publication of this paper was continued by Mr. Stout until 1845, when he was appointed postmaster, and sold out his paper. The publication of the Western Sun, for many years, was carried on under many difficulties and disadvantages. Judge Law says that all the printing materials had to be transported from Georgetown, Kentucky, that being the nearest point where they could be procured. And there being no public conveyances in those days, Mr. Stout was for many years compelled to transport all his printing materials on horseback, taking with him three horses, one for riding and two for packing. The regular files of this paper from the start are preserved.

GENERAL LOSSES—PARTIAL LIST OF THE PUBLIC HALLS, BLOCKS, BUILDINGS, CHURCHES, CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS, ACADEMIES, HOSPITALS, SCHOOLS, &c., DESTROYED BY THE FIRE.

(From the Chicago Journal, Friday.)

Now that the smoke of the burnt district has cleared away, and the general confusion, at first so confounding, has very considerably subsided, we are able to take a bird's-eye view of the general loss, which we give below:

oldest Stock Insurance Company in the United States.

Organized A. D. 1794.

ARE YOU INSURED?

This is a question of more than ordinary significance, now that nearly all the prominent Insurance Companies of the land have been swept away by the burning of Chicago.

Companies rightly deemed perfectly sound a week ago, have been swamped by losses exceeding the entire amount of their assets. Many of the most prominent Companies are bankrupt.

Among the very few Companies that have come out of the terrible ordeal at Chicago, safe and sound, is

THE STAUNCH OLD BULWARK,

The Insurance Co. of North America

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

CASH ASSETS, over and above CHICAGO LOSSES,

$2,700,000!

In consequence of the low rates prevailing in Chicago, this Company has done a limited business there for a year or two, and the result is, the entire losses by the Great Fire do not exceed Half a Million Dollars; not one-half of the net surplus over all liabilities! This is the result of the Company's prudence in refusing to do business at ruinous rates.

Those seeking reliable insurance should secure policies in the

Solid Old North America

Having successfully withstood the calamities and vicissitudes of Seventy-seven Years, paying losses in that time amounting to over Twenty-five Million Dollars, it is a proud satisfaction for this grand Old Company, in this hour of terrible disaster, to bear aloft the Old, Time-honored and Battle-scarred Banner, with the assuring inscription thereof of "Security and Indemnity."

For Policies in this Staunch and Trustworthy Company, apply to ## Carts vs. Wagons.

Carts are rarely seen on American farms, and the neglect with which these useful vehicles are treated is far from being a true economy. Carts have many advantages over wagons in the ordinary work of a farm. They are cheaper, two good carts costing less than one wagon; and two horses working in carts will do the work of three in wagons. The load being so much nearer to the draft, the horse draws it more easily; while, being undisturbed by the neighborhood of another horse—the efforts of which are sometimes a hindrance instead of a help to his fellow, more especially in a badly mated team—his undivided attention is given to his work, and the whole useful effect of his exertions is secured. Carts are more easily loaded than wagons. If properly constructed, the body of the cart is nearer the ground than that of a wagon; and in loading all heavy material, such as manure, stone, earth, lime, etc., the exertion of the laborer is confined mostly to the arms; while had he to lift the material one foot higher, the action of the muscles of almost the whole body would be required. They are more easily unloaded. The dumping of a cart-load of any material used on a farm is almost instantaneous, while the unloading of a wagon is nearly as laborious as the loading, and the time occupied is a serious tax. A load of a ton can be put on a cart, and one horse will draw it with ease. The line of draft is from below upward, which enables the horse to use the lifting power of his fore legs. He will back it with equal ease, because the weight of his body is thrown into the breeching, adding to the pushing power of his limbs, while he will turn his load as easily equal to that which he and the cart occupy on the ground. This is a great advantage in the hay or harvest field, and saves much traveling in turning round.

Another great benefit from the use of carts is that a continuous loading of hay or grain can go on in the field, one cart being loaded while another is being unloaded; thus keeping the field force always employed, with no increase in the number of horses used. With a suitable rack, twelve hundred pounds of loose hay may be loaded on a cart.

The style of cart is a matter for consideration. By having the axle of iron, and bent, the body of the cart may be brought down as near to the ground as may be desired; the same arrangement will permit the use of larger wheels. The center of gravity of the load is thus brought considerably below the line of draft, making the draft easier, and the balance of the load much more readily secured. The body of the cart may be built up of narrow slats, put six inches apart, which will lighten it considerably. This may be used when manure or any coarse loads are to be moved. If earth, lime, or gravel is to be loaded, light boards may be laid in loosely to confine it.

Dearth and Home.

A SLEEPY DAVID.—In a certain small town on the Mississippi lived a man who made horse trading a business. He bought up horses for a city market, and was considered pretty good on a trade.

One day, a long, lean, queer, green-looking specimen of the Western country arrived at the dock with a load of horses. He inquired for the horse jockey.

"Daddy sent me down with some horses," he said in a half idiotic tone.

"Who is he?"

"Daddy."

"What do you want for your horses?"

"Daddy said you could set your price," was the response.

"Let me go down and look at your horses," said Brown, and accordingly they were soon at the boat.

Brown examined the horses, and named the price he would give for this one and for that, and the country bumpkin made no objection, although some of the offers were not more than one-half the worth of the animal. One of the bystanders said to the countryman that he was being cheated, but he returned:

"Daddy said Brown would set the price;" and so Brown had it all his own way.

At last they came to another animal, which did not look so much superior to the rest.

"I must have more for this animal," said the fellow. "Daddy says he can run some."

"Run!" said Brown, "the nag can't run worth a cent."

"Daddy said so, and daddy knows."

"Why I've got one up in the stable that would beat him all hollow."

"Guess not," said the fellow. "Let's try 'em. I'll bet the whole boat load of horses on 'em."

Brown smiled.

"I'll stake five thousand dollars against your boat load," said Brown, winking to the crowd; "and these men," selecting two, "shall hold the stakes."

Brown's five thousand was entrusted to one, and the other went on board the horse boat.

One of the crowd started to remonstrate with the idiotic fellow, but he only responded:

"Golly! dad told me he could run some, and daddy ought to lose, if he was such a tarnation fool as to tell me that when he couldn't."

Brown's sleek racer was brought down and Brown mounted him. The countryman led out his animal and clambered on his back, looking as uncouth and awkward as the horse he proposed to ride.

The word was given, and they started, amidst the laughter of the crowd. At first Brown was at the head, and it looked as if the poor fellow was to be badly beaten, when suddenly his horse plunged forward and the jockey was left far behind. Such going had not been seen in those parts for a long time, and poor Brown was crest-fallen as the cheers of the bystanders fell on his ears.

"I'll take the 'spondulix,'" said the countryman, riding up. "Dad was right. The animal can get around a little."

Brown tried to say it was all a joke, but the fellow would have none of it.

"I guess I won't trade to-day," he said, as he put up his old rough leather pocket-book, "I'll go back to daddy."

In vain Brown tried to induce him to trade, but he pushed off his boat, resolutely saying, "I'd better go back and tell daddy."

Brown was completely "sold," for he knew at once that the green countryman was a little shrewder than people imagined him, and had just come there purposely to win his money from him.

Next time he did not ride a horse that "daddy" said could "run some."

Old Shoes.—You probably think that if you look very sharply at an old shoe when you throw it away, you will know it again if ever it comes back to you. But that does not at all follow. One of these days you may button your dress with an old pair of slippers, comb your hair with a boot, or grasp a cast-off pairer in your hand while you eat your dinner. You do not see how this can be? Well, we will tell you.

Old shoes are turned to account by manufacturers in the following manner: They are cut into very small pieces, and kept for a couple of days in chloride of sulphur. The effect of this is to make the leather hard and brittle.

Next, the material is withdrawn from the action of the chloride of sulphur, washed with water and dried. When thoroughly dry, it is ground to powder, and mixed with some substance like glue or gum, that causes it to adhere together. It is then pressed into molds and shaped into buttons, combs, knife handles, etc. So you see how it may come to pass that you will comb your hair with a boot, and fasten your clothes with a slipper.—Exchange.

REMEDY FOR EAR ACHES.—Generally, heat is the best remedy. Apply a warm poultice, or warm oil to the ear. Rub the back of the ear with warm liniment. In case of cold discharge, carefully syringe the ear with warm milk and water. In all cases keep the ear thoroughly cleansed. Relief is often given by rubbing the back of the ear with a little harts-horn and water.

Between two and three hundred women are expected to attend the Michigan University next term.

FOR SALE,
A LARGE & SPLENDID FARM,
AND EXTENSIVE AND VARIOUS PERSONAL PROPERTY.

HEALTH REQUIRING ME TO WINTER in Florida, I will sell the Farm on which I reside, containing over seven hundred and eighty acres, situated in Franklin and Woodford Counties, Ky., five miles from Frankfort, on the Railroad to Lexington, and the Turnpike to Versailles, and I can confidently say there is no better farm in Kentucky, all things considered.

The Location is beautiful, convenient, and healthy.

The Buildings are elegant, spacious, substantial, and for all appropriate purposes; the Farm being supplied with three other comfortable dwellings and suitable buildings, be sides the principal residence.

The Soil was naturally good, and has been kept in a high state of fertility, and is now ready to yield the heaviest crops of hemp, grain, and grasses.

The Water is of all kinds, abundant, and convenient for domestic, stock, and ornamental uses.

The Fencing is of durable materials of various kinds, is in good condition, with timber ample for future supply.

Society is excellent; and religious, educational, and social conveniences abundant and varied.

A Division of the Farm into four parts can be judiciously effected, so that each will have its appropriate dwelling and other buildings; and I will sell separately that part on the north side of the railroad, having superior soil, water, timber, roads, and two sets of buildings, all in good condition.

The Terms will be made easy, after a cash payment of one half of the purchase money at the time of giving possession in October next.

Purchasers are invited to inspect the premises in person, or apply by mail for full description.

An Auction Sale will be held on the premises on the 5th of September next, consisting of Durham Cattle, "Improved Kentucky" Sheep, Cashmere Goats, Fattening Hogs, Farm and Saddle Horses, Crops on hand, and Implements of all kinds, which will be duly advertised.
